Annual Staff

Dedication

We, the Senior class of 1973, with greatest esteem and respect, dedicate the "Pirate Log" to our friend and class sponsor, Mr. Gary Wolfe. Through his guidance and leadership, we have been able to accomplish mountainous tasks and find our ultimate goals. We students at Twin Rivers will remember Mr. Wolfe in our future years of life.

Foreward

After many months of hard work and preparation, we present to you the 1973 Pirate Log. We students of Twin Rivers High School have journeyed down an exciting path this year, filled with many interesting days. It has led us through such things as sports events, prom, music contests, band concerts and graduation. It has taken us to the doors of the schoolhouse time and time again for the class plays and dances. It is our hope that this book will help you recall happy experiences and stir pleasant memories.

In the past few years
we have changed
a great deal.
We will continue to change and grow
as the years go by.
We will think fondly
of the past
but look eagerly towards the future for yesterday
is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream.

Inge Blij arrived in the United States on August 5, 1972 from Bussum, Holland. She stayed in the home of Darrell G. DeBoom until December 2, 1972. She then transferred to Minnesota. Inge is the daughter of Hendrik and Henderika Blij.

Lucia De Grande arrived in the United States on January 10, 1973 from Marilla, Brazil. She stayed in the home of Duane Wood and is leaving for home on July 10, 1973. Lucia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archimedes De Grande.

We're on Our Way.

- I, Scott Andersen, will my green and white cooler to Beaner. Just watch out for the ditches, Beaner.
- I, Clayton Armstrong, will my mononucleosis to Tom Curry so next year he'll have an excuse not to go out for football and to Dan L. Johnson so he can lose 20 pounds in two days and win some money from the Skinny Club.
- I, Robin Baugous, will my yellow blinking lights and orange highway markers back to the Highway Commission. They're probably still looking for them anyway.
- I, Leona Berte, being of freaky mind and fugly body, will to Lori Thul my ability not to pout, my fingernails to Jeri Barton and my ability to get the guy I want to Lori Helwick. Maybe next year you'll have better luck.
- I, Becky Bjornson, will my cornet to Betsy Monson. That way it won't bring back rotten memories.
- I, Kenny Bratland, being of unsound mind and curly hair, will my wool to Clay Pflibsen. "A little flip here and a little flop there surely does a lot for the hair."
- I, Chris Brock, will to Janna Brock, My remarkable memory. I guess it's not really remarkable but at least it enables me to remember to take off my underwear before I shower! I also will to Deb Zelmet, Sue Hanson and of course, Janna Brock my cat, Chester. He doesn't require much trouble, just three things, a little Purina with milk, a brand new rug to wizz on, and fresh water, but don't worry about that last one. He prefers the toilet bowl.
- I, Jeannette Brown, being of clean mind and unsound body, will to Margie Scott my remarkable ability to enjoy school and stay sober.
- I, Dick Collins, will my ability to have fun on Sunday afternoons to Daryl Olson.
- I, Kathy Cran, will my legs to Bruce Thatcher. Maybe if we traded, they'd believe I was a girl.
- I, Lucia De Grande, will to beautiful, cute and sweet Kathy Wendt, my beautiful, cute and sweet boyfriend, Carlos.
- I, Denny Demory, will my ability to get bookkeeping assignments done on time to Lynn Pentico.
- I, Annette Ehrhardt, will my doctor's excuse for P.E. to Rhoda Rongved. Now she won't have to think of excuses every Tuesday and Friday next year.
- I, Susan Eisenbarth, being of disabled mind and mangled body, do solemnly will my body to science. Maybe THEY can figure it out.
- I, Janet Enger, being of uncertain mind and poor body, will my ability to get into the college of your choice, to Janna Brock. I hope you have better luck than I did.
- I, Randy Frederiksen, will my loving ability to Steve Waechter. May the devil look out.
- I, Greg Fuhrmann, will my ability to gain weight during wrestling season to Jeff Loken so he won't always be eating in front of the other wrestlers to stay within five pounds of his weight.
- I, Teri Gronbach, will my ability of shooting left-handed lay-ups to Jeanne Bakken. If at first you don't succeed, try and try and try again.
- I, Marcia Halrud, being of no mind and huge body, will my appetite for pizza to anyone who needs to put on a few extra pounds. It worked for me, but TRY to control yourself. Also, I will my gas control at cheerleading camp to Deb Zelmet and Janna Brock. It will save time if you don't have to run out into the hall.
- I, Pam Halrud, will to you Randy Foth, a year's supply of Polar's parts. Then you won't have to be at Stein's shop as much as me.
- I, Ron Hansel, being of (ahem) burly body and average head, will to Scott Satern my African head-shriner. Now maybe your head will shrink down to size.
- I, Carol Hauck, will my Ump-Teen hours of practicing to the whole T. R. band. Good luck!
- I, Shirley Holthaus, being of sound mind but not body, will to Diana Johnson my bottle collection. Remember... all bottles need not be sampled by you.
- I, Tony Hoxford, being of unsound mind and unsounder body, will my car to Kerry Coleman. Now you can have a car that will make it through a demolition derby.
- I, Bonnie Jacobson, will to Janna Brock and Ann Selvig, a year's supply of bandaids, undershirts, and nothing bras. I also will to them my set of beloved barbells and pamphlets of chest exercises. Good Luck!!!
- I, Brenda Jacobson, being of nervous mind and blushing body, will Sue Hanson a giant can of Nestle's Quick, so you can knock it around when things get boring. This way, you'll avoid the bruises and it won't hit back.
- I, Jeff Jacobson, being of sound mind and false teeth, will my front dentures to Byron Kinseth in hopes that next year his broken baby teeth will be replaced by new ones. And to Kerry Karate Coleman, I will my Bruce Tegners Complete Book of Karate, so that maybe next year he'll be able to handle Judo Virg Hacker.
- I, Dan Johnson, will my QUIET personality to Sue Hanson and Ann Selvig, so maybe they will quit laughing. And to Dan Evenson, my hot brown Ford in hopes that it will dodge loose trailer hitches.
- I, Donna Kellner, will my ability to stick with one guy to Jeanne Bakken. It really isn't so hard. Why don't you give it a try?
- I, Jana Loken, will a tape-recording of my yelling every morning to my brother Jeff. That way you'll feel right at home next year.
- I, Skip Olson, will my Mach I to Scott Satern so he can drive a car around instead of his PURPLE school bus.
- I, Lynn Pentico, will to Randy Foth my ability to keep rim-rac from biting wim-wac. And to Byron Kinseth I will my "rotten tooth," now you can fill that big ugly space between your teeth.
- I, Garry Rosenau, will to Steve Olson my diet, it looks like Steve may have to lose a couple of pounds next year. Remember Steve, just a little steak and a little jello.
- I, Roy Scott, will my hooded sweat shirt to Tom Curry, since he admires it so. And also my cigar to Jeff Loken. Roitans are the best brand anyway.
- I, Kim Struthers, will to Ann Selvig my ability to stay cool, calm, and collected while sitting on the bench at basketball games. Maybe then you can sit out your last game, too! I also will to Ann my year's supply of chest exercises so she won't have to use turkey pie tins to look stacked.
- I, Rodney Thompson, being of intelligent mind and elongated body, will my honorary membership in the pigeon gang to Dan Evenson and my cracker jack prizes to Scott Satern.
- I, Kathy Wendt, being of feeble mind and sickly body, caused from a severe case of whipitis, do hereby bequeth my dog leash to Mary Hansel just to keep it in the family. Bow Wow! Also to Carrie (alias "FLATS") Jacobson I will my yellow Princess training bra with stretch acrylic lace which she can wear when the undershirts become unbearable. Cheer up Care, with today's miracle foundation garments, you can make mountains out of mole hills.
- I, Ellen Wilson being of dirty mind and deteriorated body, do hereby will my UNTOUCHED Mark Eden Bust developer to Carrie Jacobson. Spend your money for better things.

1973 Twin Rivers

1973 Twin Rivers Class Prophecy - written by Rod Thompson

It's getting about that time again--I mean--when you feel like picking up yourself and going home to visit. It's been a long time since I was back to that little community we called Twin Rivers. While I'm back I suppose that I might look in on a few of my old school chums. Since I had been through high school, which has been a long, long time, I had finished college, and after that the Navy put me in charge of a ship. I didn't really have to leave my ship when I came--I just brought it with me.

I had to take an airplane back home--one of those intersuperintrasupersonic jets that everyone is talking about. I was just about to ask the stewardess if she wanted to--and I looked at her and lo and behold it was Pam Halsrud. What a surprise!! We chatted about old times and then we--and afterwards I decided to go ask the pilot why the ride was so bumpy. I went to the control room to start to complain but I just couldn't believe my eyes. Here was a stack of books everywhere I looked. It took me sometime to locate the pilot and who do you think I found? None other than THE Greg Fuhrmann. I could hardly believe it. He finally got around to explaining why he had so many books with him. Apparently he was the author of his new book--HOW TO FLY AND HANDLE THE STEWARDESSES AT THE SAME TIME. Good thing Pam was with me--no telling what HE would have done.

We finally arrived at the airport where I took a PURPLE cab to the bus terminal. The face looked familiar and sure enough--it was Teri Cronbach. She was as surprised to see me as I was to see her. When I tried to get my ticket I thought I recognized that chick at the window--yes--it was Jeannette Brown. She asked me where I was going--I said home. She tried to give me a ticket to the Fiji Islands, and I finally got the situation straightened out. I was headed home. I jumped on the bus. After we started out I looked up to see who was driving the bus so fast--it was Robin Laugous. I wanted to find another bus but it was too late. So--I casually went to the back of the bus to take care of the business at hand when I saw the red lights flashing behind! Meanwhile I felt a sudden sharp jolt. That crazy Robin had back-ended a semi. Everyone jumped out of the bus and watched the fight. There was another one of my classmates--Dick Collins--the driver of the semi--having some sharp words with Robin. Amid the chaos I heard a siren. Out jumped Tony Hosfoed of the State Highway Patrol. I knew it would take some time to settle the dispute so I decided to hitch a ride. Who should that be--coming down the road, but Jana Loken. I asked her what she had done after high school. She said that she had gotten her BA, BS, MA, PhD, , and MS. degrees from the different colleges around. She said she was still looking for something--I wonder what it is.

When I got home, one of the first things I wanted to do was to get my picture taken. I went to Dave's Studio. I looked in the back room and who did I find there. That luscious model, Donna Kellner. Denny Demory was taking her pictures. He was turning down the fans and turning up the lights because she said it was getting a little drafty.

I went up the street a ways to try to find a sporting goods store so I could buy myself some new treads. Who was that behind the counter but Becky Bjornson, who is also an Avon lady on the side. Kathy Cran was also shopping around, she was going to buy a new basketball to replace the one she had worn out practicing.

I also had to stop by a grocery store for some groceries. In front of the store was a huge sign that said "Garry Rosenau's Grocery Store." I wondered whether it was Garry Rosenau's Grocery store or not. I went in--and between the orange juice and the milk was the meat counter. There stood Lucia DeGrande arguing with Rosey about the price of his meat.

I had time on my hands so I went to the Olympic trials held in Humboldt. I was walking around the grounds when something came through the air and knocked me out cold. Thanks to Kathy Wendt, that combination nurse and AAU Track Star, and her friend, Myrtle, I am alive today to tell my story. Apparently Susan Eisenbarth had thrown the shot put from Livermore and I happened to be at the right place at the wrong time.

I turned on Who-TV while I was still in the hospital and happened to catch the latter part of All Star Wrestling. Facing each other was Lynn "Silver Tooth" Pentico and Ken "Kitty Kat" Bratland. Refing the match was Roy "Cigar" Scott. The match was stopped when Roytan gave Kitty two points because Silver Tooth was biting his tail. The match was getting exciting when in walked my small, but sexy nurse, Brenda Nessa. I asked her how her dainties were doing--she said better than ever. She was carrying her red book of postulates that she had written throughout the years. She had also won the "Mother of the year" award after her fourth baby in two years (two sets of twins). That Betty Crocker Homemaker Award must have helped her in more ways than one.

Class Prophecy

While I was in the hospital, I happened to come by a book entitled "1001 Recipes for Pizza." I was curious to see who the authors were. Sure enough the book was co-authored by the former Kim Struthers, now Mrs. Dana Vige, and Marcia Halsrud, now Mrs. Clayton Armstrong. This book is only one of many in a series of 1001 ways to do things. They cover such topics as singing, dancing, loving, and how to spell que-che-ma-qua-dubitua-ha. I asked Marcia what Clayte was doing for a living--she said that he was a husband, and the Chief of Police in his spare time. Yes--that's what I call "a chip off the old block."

I happened to be going east of Bode when I happened to see a blue car in the ditch. I wondered who it was. Yes, sure enough, it was Janet Enger right there in the ditch--again. Apparently it was some sort of emergency because she was in her white uniform, jumping all over the place. Who should be arriving at the scene then, but a tow truck from Scott's Dodge. Janet was very upset. She wanted it to be from Mark's Dodge. Out of the tow truck jumped Scott and his left hand mechanic, Randy Frederiksen. They finally got the car back on the road but couldn't locate the keys.

I left Janet--she was still looking for her keys--and I drove on down the highway. I looked in the rear view mirror and saw a Chevelle SS gaining on me fast. What was this? Here it was--Kathy Wendt--again--pulling who's?--oh, yes, Ron Hansel. I stopped her and shot the bull for awhile. I guess Ron was making up for all the gas that he has wasted going over to Wendt's all the time. As I left I heard the crack of the whip and they were off again.

I kept on driving. I didn't know where I was--I guess I was lost. I came to a town--the name was Podunk Center. I decided to ask for directions. I happened to be by the schoolhouse at the time. I went in and heard the faint sound of a band. I tracked down the noise and walked in the bandroom. Who should that be directing the band of 15--but Carol Hauck. That reminds me of when I was in high school. Anyway--she was busy so I went on down the halls. I noticed something very strange. There was a red glow coming from the English room. I looked in--and sure enough--Bonnie was turning all sorts of shades of red. Apparently someone had said something quite risque--that explained everything. She gave me some indefinite directions and I was on my way.

I ended up in a big city, thanks to Bonnie's directions--I was lost! I don't know how I managed to end up at a big banquet--but I did. All the honored guests were college coaches, their secretaries, and some of the players and managers. They were all vying for the Most Valuable of the year. I noticed two of the coaches that I knew. They were Skip Olson and Jeff Jacobson. They had faced each other in the classic YO-YO Bowl. They're still bouncing around. Jeff brought his secretary with him too, Shirley Holthaus. Jeff also brought his manager with him--Danny Johnson. Dan has also moved up in the Skinny Club. He is now Chairman of the Board. I guess the membership in the Skinny Club had increased to 100,000. Dan is still working to pay off the sizable debt. Finally, the announcement was made for the Most Valuable in the college area. "The Most Valuable is Ellen Wilson." I guess Big El really put her women's lib to work.

I left this and decided to go home. I drove through Ottosen--what's this--a new establishment! I went in. It was Annette and Boomer's Beauty Parlor. In the chair was Chris Brock. The noise and the gossip was hurting my ears, so I left.

My leave is all up but it was so nice to see everybody again. Wasn't it amazing--I think I saw everybody.

I even had a chance to visit a few of my old teachers that had moved away after I graduated. I think there were about 4 or so. The rest of them stayed at the high school--even AFTER it burned down.

I first stopped by to see Ken "Scoop" Reiste. He still owned his newspaper, and his circulation has increased a lot. Teaching speech class must have benefited him tremendously.

I then stopped by Mr. Pierick's (Captain Jack's) office - to try to get an appointment. He was booked solid with those trouble makers at Manson. I decided to see him at his farm. When I arrived he was trying to combine his watermelons. He stopped just long enough to say hello and talk about the good old days.

I then went to see Mr. David Theist--he was carrying in a weight set. He sure has done well--I mean--it's not everyone that makes what he sells in the basement. It wasn't long until the lunch break arrived and his store was swamped. I said "good-bye" and left.

After this I traveled down the road and said hello to Mr. Wolfe. He was building a new house from scratch. I told him "good luck" and then drove on.

Each one of these teachers have given me some good advice. Mr. Reiste, my old speech teacher, told me "never stand there like a bump on a log--move around." Mr. Pierick told me if I ever was a principal--use a wooden paddle, because they're supposed to be more painful. Mr. Theist--a business man himself--told me never to take any wooden nickels. Mr. Wolfe, an Industrial Arts teacher--once told me "quote," "Rod--don't you ever take any wooden yo-yos."

With that-----I think I'll close!!!!!!

The summer and fall softball seasons of 1972 were very successful. Although we lost our first summer sectional game, the team had a fine record. We were sorry to lose the services of four fine seniors. The fall team played exceptionally well considering the fact that four new faces were in the line-up. I was proud of this group, because of their intense desire to play together. This paid off, as they were within one game of the state tournament, before bowing out. The summer of 1973 promises to be every bit as exciting. Coach Larson.

"We're going to play pretty soon. Help!"

Uh, Roy, are you excited then, or what??

"Now what happened?"

Pins! Needles! Shake! Break!

We're ready to go!

ATTENDANTS: CLAYTE ARMSTRONG, BONNIE JACOBSON, BRENDA JACOBSON and ROY SCOTT

Homecoming week started out Monday with float construction from 3:30 to 5:15 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. Construction continued during these hours throughout the week.

Tuesday was "Greaser Day," when everyone dressed up like in the 1950's. Wednesday was feather day. Every girl in the high school was given a paper feather that said "pluck the Eagles." Whenever she talked to a boy between classes or at noon, the boy got her feather. Roy Scott received the most feathers, and as a prize, won two free tickets to the homecoming dance. Thursday was hat and sign day. Holly Thompson and Rick Lines won the prize for the most original creations. Thursday night was the Homecoming Pep Rally. The cheerleaders gave a pom-pom routine and did cheers. Then the classes gave skits. The Jrs. took first place with a skit about Count Dracula and his accomplices, with Richard Nixon making an appearance. The Srs. got second place with two fairytales about "Little Coach Eagle" and "Little Pirate Riding Hood." The freshmen finished third, their skit being a group of girls singing, "I wish I were a TR Pirate" while various other things were happening. The sophomores took honorable mention with their skit about Wheaties, Breakfast of Champions. After the skits the Homecoming Royalty was announced. Kathy Wendt and Jeff Jacobson were named Queen and King. The Attendants were Bonnie and Brenda Jacobson, Clayte Armstrong, and Roy Scott. A bonfire, put on by the freshmen, climaxed the evening.

COACH'S CORNER

1972-1973 Football Season

This season was the year of the unexpected. Injuries and illnesses played a large part in our mediocre season. It seemed all our experienced ball players were jinxed. Although at times some of our better players were not on the field, the team never gave up. Indeed, this season gave many of our underclassmen a lot of experience. More freshmen lettered this year than all six of my other football squads combined. The coaching staff feels that with this added experience and fine bunch of young athletes, the Twin Rivers Pirates will be improved next year.

This was a very enjoyable group of young men to work with. We will surely miss this year's senior ball-players.

Coach Roger Lounsbury

Injury Prone Season,

1973 Seniors

I feel that we had the makings of a conference championship team, but due to injuries and sickness our goals were not accomplished. Even though our record was 4-5, I felt we had a respectable team headed by excellent coaches.

--Clayton Armstrong

Even though our football team had a 4-5 record this season we were still proud of our squad. I think we found out that the Twin Rivers Pirates still have a lot of pride and desire which was tested by the loss of key players due to injuries.

--Jeff Jacobson

I thought we had a good season considering the injuries we had. Even though we were beaten badly a few times we never lost our pride. We hung in there and finished 4-5. It could have been better, but it was fun and that's what counts.

--Skip Olson

Co-captains this year for the squad were Jeff Jacobson, Clayton Armstrong, and Skip Olson. Clayton and Jeff lettered 3 years, while Skip lettered twice. All three ball-players were selected to the Honorable Mention All-Conference list.

Head coach for the football squad - Roger Lounsbury. Assistant coaches were Al Schoonbeck, Dave Theiss and Herb Raney.

COACH'S COMMENT

It was a privilege to work with the young ladies who represented Twin Rivers. Our season was disappointing in the win and loss column, however, the girls displayed a lot of desire and hustle throughout the season.

These seniors will be missed next year. They are Kathy Cran, Teri Gronbach, and Kim Struthers. Kathy Cran, a regular for the last three years, was our leading scorer for the season with 367 points for a 17.4 point per game average. Kathy's top point performance was against Lincoln Central when she led our scoring with 39 points in helping lead us to a third place finish in the Graettinger Tournament. Teri Gronbach ended her season with three excellent games in the sectional tournament hitting 27 of 49 field goal attempts for 55% shooting from the field. She led the scoring with 26 points against Goldfield in a losing cause in the semi-finals. Kim Struthers was a good consistent performer for T.R. in the guard court all season. She averaged 6.2 rebounds per game and received Honorable Mention All-Conference honors.

Carrie Jacobson and Sandy Rolland played good sound defense night after night. Carrie, leading rebounder in the conference, was named to the Twin-Lakes All-Conference Second Team and Sandy received Honorable Mention. Jana Wehrspann was our second leading scorer averaging 9.7 points per game. Ann Selvig averaged 8.6 points per game.

We're looking forward to a better season next year with Ann and Jana back in the front court, and Carrie and Sandy in the back court. They are backed up by Julie Pflibsen, Jeri Barton and Mary Foth, who rounded out the varsity, along with some promising prospects from the very successful J.V. team, which finished with a 10-3 record.

1972-73 Boys' Basketball Season

This year's Pirates had one of their more successful seasons in recent years. The keynote of the season was their ability to play all their opponents on equal terms. Another praise worthy feature of this year's club was the fine sportsmanship shown in the many close hard fought ball games they played.

While the Pirates had few seniors on the team, the three they did have were good ones. Clayte Armstrong was the team leader in the early going, and good steady player throughout the season. Denny Demory, after a slow start due to lack of experience, came on to be one of the better players in the conference. All three of these seniors received recognition in the All-Conference voting, with Clayte and Denny being selected to the Twin Lakes Conference second team and Jeff receiving honorable mention. It goes without saying, these seniors will certainly be missed next year.

One thing a coach likes to see is balanced scoring, and this year's Pirates certainly had that with four men averaging over ten points a game and scoring over two hundred points for the season. Clayte Armstrong led the scoring with 239 total points and a 12.6 points per game. Jeff Jacobson had 211 total points and a 10.5 per game average. Denny Demory had 206 points and a 10.3 per game average. Junior Tom Curry, our point man, rounded out most of the scoring with 159 total points and a seven point per game average. As a team, the Pirates shot a respectable 41% from the field and 58% from the free-throw line for the season. With All-Conference Honorable Mention players Tom Curry and Byron Kinseth coming back, the Pirates have a nucleus to build around for next year. But the real success of the team will depend on how much the other juniors and younger players improve. One encouraging sign was the fine play of this year's freshman basketball team which compiled a 10-3 record. Also, when you're not first, you try harder.

Conference Wrestling Champs

The Twin Rivers wrestlers completed their most successful season in the six year's history of the sport. The wrestlers were Twin Lakes Conference Champs this year compiling a 7-2 dual meet record. Tournament finishes in the 1972-1973 season were:

- 3rd Dr. Hugh Linn Invitational
- 2nd South Hamilton Invitational
- 2nd Graettinger Invitational
- 1st Graettinger J.V. Invitational
- 2nd Twin Lakes Conf. Tourney
- 2nd Munson Sectional
- 2nd Manson District
- 3rd State Tourney - Class A

Twin Rivers wrestlers had four district champs - Lynn Pentico @ 105; Kenny Bratland @ 119; Roy Scott @ 132; and Scott Satern @ 145. At the state meet these four wrestlers compiled a total of 30 points finishing 3rd in Class A out of 128 schools. Place finishes were Lynn Pentico, 3rd at 105, Kenny Bratland, 4th at 119, Roy Scott, 3rd at 132, and Scott Satern, 4th at 145.

Girls' Track

There was a lot of desire and considering the number of teams in the relays we were running in, we did quite well. We had a squad of 16 made up primarily of underclassmen.

The big winner on our squad was our only senior, Kathy Wendt. Kathy earned points for us in every meet. She also ran the 100 yard dash in the State Meet in 11.99

Our team finished fifth in the conference meet and were only two points short of fourth place. This was after we were without the services of Karen Kineth who set a new school record in the 880 of 2:44.8. She ran the last lap of the 880 with a broken bone in her foot.

All of the young ladies performed well. Next year, with the returning of the present squad and with some good eighth graders coming up we should be an improved team.

Ottoman Class History written by Kathy Wendt

In late August of 1960, 21 kindergartners started school at the Ottoman Elementary Building, and believe me things have never been the same since! Only 10 of those original 21 will remain plus 5 others who moved here during grade school.

One of the most interesting features about kindergarten was a noisy other but "Show and Tell." Some of you mothers might have been a little shocked had you known just exactly what your darling, little, innocent angels were coming to school showing and telling. I remember one day, Kim Struthers came rucking into class and announced that she was going to have a new baby brother or sister pretty soon, but, as she put it, "Mommy hasn't decided which she wants yet, so she's keeping it in her stomach I guess."

Mrs. Brady, our teacher, sensed things were getting a little too deep for 5 year-olds and she said quickly, "Class it's time for recess!" Poor Mrs. Brady she quit teaching that year and moved to Germany. That's easily understandable with a class like ours. We just 4 kids at the end of kindergarten. I guess it was more than they could take!

In first grade, we started to learn how to read. Look . . . Look here . . . See . . . See Dick. See Dick (in. See Spot. (See poor Mrs. Carlson got a headache) Marcia Halvord was the naughtiest girl in first grade because she had blue-framed glasses and anybody who had blue-framed glasses had style!

In second grade our teacher was Miss Struthers. All of the boys had crushes on her because she was single, but Jeff Jacobson had the worst crush of all. Jeff would do just about anything to get Miss Struthers' attention. When she announced to the class that she was getting married, we had to pick Jeff up off the floor and carry him out on a stretcher. Jeff got over that heartbreak pretty fast, I must admit.

Our third grade teacher was Mrs. Spaulding. Everybody loved Mrs. Spaulding because she never yelled at us well-almost never. There was the time that Johnson picked up a dirty word from the eighth grade and used it. Boy, could she yell when she set her mind to it! Mrs. Spaulding taught us how to speak some Spanish and also how to knit. Brenda Jacobson was the prize knitter. Why, she didn't miss around with those simple little square patcholders like the rest of us! No. She moved right out of the pot-holder stage into making bathroom slippers. It was also in third grade that we played games of war at recess. The boys were the soldiers and the girls were the nurses. We girls were always running short of bandages, but one day, Brenda and Bonnie Jacobson bought a whole box of (ahem) bandages to school. Mrs. Spaulding saw us playing with the (ahem) bandages and boy did she blush. She told Bonnie not to steal any more bandages from her mom's closet. You can just guess what the bandages were and if you can't ask Bonnie.

Fourth grade was the grade we had all dreaded because we'd heard how tough a teacher Mrs. Nesson was. You remember Mrs. Nesson, don't you Skip? Mrs. Nesson was, well, should we say quite well-endowed and Skip seemed to oh . . . notice. In fourth grade Shirley Halkaus joined our class and that made the boys mad because now the number of girls in the class outnumbered the boys. Since we girls had the majority we always got our way.

Our fifth grade teacher was Mrs. Harsitzen. Fifth grade was quite the year for feuding romances. All the girls went wild over tall, blond Danny Denery. We were all jealous of Bonnie when Danny gave her a friendship ring. Kenny Bradford came to us in fifth grade and he had a temper you wouldn't believe. Some of the boys thought they had to straighten Ken out and show him who was boss, so they ran him to a tree at recess. And if good ol' Red Thompson hadn't come along and untied him, he probably would have stayed there the whole day.

Then came sixth grade and Miss Fox was our teacher. Most of us thought she was pretty rough, but we did learn quite a bit that year like how much fun it was to copy pages from the dictionary, right, Jane? I should talk! Janet and I had to copy a page that very first day and we were humiliated! I can still remember her saying, "Janet and Kathy Page! Page 12, column B." Jeannette Brown moved here in sixth grade. She was pretty shy at first, but she wouldn't be with a bunch of kids like us around!

Seventh grade was our first year of junior high and we thought we were cool. We learned about the birds and bees and other things. The biggest event in my life in seventh grade was when I got my first bra. Not that I needed it of course but it was the "in" thing to wear. To tell you the truth it was a down right "pain in the chest." Mr. Raney and Miss Bradford were our seventh and eighth grade teachers. Why Nesson moved here in eighth grade. He sat in the back of the room and never said a word probably because we didn't give him a chance. Poor Ray?

Well, that just about wraps it up for the Ottoman class history except to say that fifteen of us made it into high school and those same fifteen still remain to graduate from T.R. One year.

Lovermore Class History written by Gayle Armstrong

Our class got off to a good start with kindergarten round-up. Man, that was exciting! So exciting, that Teri wet her pants and graceful Ellen tripped over a chair and cut her chin. The best part of the day (at least to Clarice) was nap time. He was so heartbroken when his mat partner, Theresa Kohlhaus moved away!

First grade was our first day of being in school for the entire day. Boy, did we think we were studs! We just couldn't wait until recess. But recess seemed to be a little too much for Laura. She was playing on the monkey bars and wiped out. She ended up with a bloody face. But we didn't let this stop us and in second grade we went.

Second grade was something else for all the girls. Miss Wyman taught the girls how much fun it was to wear jewelry. The girls, led by Kathy, the jewel thief of the gang and Bucky her assistant mad scientist, would go home at night and steal their mom's jewelry boxes (and so they could be used the next day in school. Then Miss Wyman got mad at the class and wouldn't let us get drinks. Some of the girls brought little bottles (of water) that is. They'd sneakily raise their desk tops and take a few sips every now and then. Then at last we got a new kid. The girls went wild just waiting to see him. We heard he had beautiful blue eyes and we thought maybe his name was Elvis Presley. Boy! What a hamster! He had a pointed head and big feet. I guess his name was Gerald Hamel. I mean Ronald Hamel!

Third grade was a pretty contest with Tony winning first prize. His famous name was as follows, "my name is Tony. I look like baloney." It was by far the best poem. Superman hit the school in fourth grade. The biggest excitement of that year was when Greg thought he was Superman. One day he ripped open the window and flew right out. His cape wouldn't hold and he dropped to the ground. The next morning our dear Superman had quite a conference with the joker, Mr. Dow. He finally was persuaded to stay on the ground. It's a good thing he did this when we were on the first floor or the whole class would have been attending a funeral three days later!

Well, as we move on, we finally graduated from our multiplication tables and fourth grade. Fifth grade was quite interesting when we started having Spanish class. Mr. Baxton, the teacher, would get so mad that he'd throw chalk at us. As punishment for misbehavior one day, Mr. Baxton put Ellen and Randy under his desk. That was the day they found out what life was all about.

On to the sixth grade and no longer had we been in there when another new boy joined our class. He came from California and was so tan everyone thought he was a relative of Little Black Sambo but we finally accepted him for who he was-Louis Phelico.

In seventh grade we experienced our first case of pappalove-Scott and Annette really had it bad. It soon ended but it looks like history has repeated itself in the twelfth grade for a short time anyhow.

Susan received a lot of kidding about her size in eighth grade but this is what she told me one day-"Growth-wise, up to age 12, boys are about one year behind girls during the ages twelve to seventeen the boys are gradually catching up and from seventeen on, it's neck and neck." Don't you agree?

It was also during that year that we found that there was a professional athlete among us. He was as strong as Superman fast as a jet plane, hairy as an ox, swift as a train and as graceful as a swan. It was none other than Gary Lovell Kosonen, Lovermore's bowling ace. Boy, were we proud of him but not half as proud as he was of himself!

One day, Mr. Enger explained to the class that a group of sheep is a flock and a group of quail a bevy. Then he asked for the names of other animals. When he came to camels, Dick boldly raised his hand and shouted "a caravan!"

During English class, Mrs. Haggan assigned everyone to write a composition on manners. This is what Robin wrote and received an A for it. "I have good manners. I say good night and good morning and hello and good bye, and when I see dead things lying around the house, I bury them." Good work, Robin.

The biggest surprise of all in grade school was that the quietest, shyest girl of all, was destined to blow more air in high school than anyone. It was none other than our classmate player, Carol.

It is with regret and mixed emotions that we close the pages on those nine years of our life together as a class. They really weren't so bad after all and we do thank both parents and teachers for helping us through the many trials and tribulations of growing up. Thank you.

The Band Plays Excellently

The Twin Rivers Band had a very unusual year. The band missed its trip to Algona Band Festival because of a conflict with a Farmshow. Rain forced the cancellation of a band appearance at a football game. Jara Wehspenn played the national anthem alone over the P.A. system, a la Al Hart. Twin Rivers had the distinction of being the first band to perform in the State Marching Band Contest at Estherville. The band received a II rating. Carol Hauck became the first Twin Rivers band member ever to be selected for the All-State Band in Des Moines. The band played three excellent concerts during the year, each one better than the one before. A II rating was received by the Concert Band in the large groups contest. Finally, the band received an invitation to participate in the Kamehameha Day Parade in Honolulu, Hawaii on June 8, 1971. But to the disappointment of all, the one was too rich for our pocketbooks.

This past summer I went to Europe with the United States Collegiate Wind Band. The 120 piece band was composed of juniors and seniors in high school, and freshmen in college. We gave seven concerts in these various cities and countries: Antwerp, Brussels; Copenhagen, Denmark; Moscow, Russia; Gersau, Switzerland; Paris, France; and London, England.

The country which impressed me the most was Russia, but I did not like our stay there. Guards were constantly on the watch.

Switzerland was the most beautiful, of course. We had an opportunity to climb mountains and take chair lifts to the tops of the Alps.

I had a wonderful time, and if the opportunity was given to me again, I would surely take it.

Song Is Strong in My Soul."

Inge Blisj sang at the Pops Concert.

The vocal music year of '72-'73 has sped from the Pops Concert to Commencement encompassing composers from Bacharach to Bach and the songs "Speak Softly, Love" to "O Rejoice, Ye Christians Loudly." I had hoped that we would be able to report great success from the music custom, but since that is not so, due to severe cuts, we will have to remember the really great music performed and the satisfaction we achieved socially, mentally, and spiritually from our choral experiences. At the large group concert, the girls glee received a III rating, the boys glee received a II rating and the mixed chorus received a III rating. The class of '73 has been the mainstay of the vocal program, and I feel particularly close to you, since we began our careers together. If you will always remember these words, "I'll get along as long as a song is strong in my soul," you will find life to be much richer as you continue in the future.

Drawing by Chris Hauck

Terry Johnson, Steve Jones and Kirk Hundertmark were the enthusiastic cheerleaders for the F.C.A. - faculty football game held October 10, 1972.

The Twin Rivers Fellowship of Christian Athletes was started in 1971-72 with 12 members. This year we tripled the membership by increasing it to 36. FCA was basically started to promote good sportsmanship and develop a closer relationship to Christ. Our organization with Mr. Pierick as sponsor, met twice monthly. We discussed current problems brought out by our monthly bulletin. This past year we had bumper sticker sales, pen and button sales and sponsored a FCA senior-faculty football game. The proceeds of these projects will go to the buying of a weight machine. Our FCA prayer was: God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference.
